- A school with first pick must declare their hunting by the first Friday of September of the school year they plan on going hunting. The second school then has until the second Friday of September to choose their dates. If a school misses their deadline they go to the bottom of the rotation.
- Each school must send their date to the Experiential Education Consultant who will then send the dates to Champagne Aishihik First Nation (CAFN) after all schools have picked their dates.

- The Aishihik Road
 - The Experiential Education Consultant will scout the Aishihik road every year one week prior to the first school group that goes out. This information will be relayed to each school as soon as possible.

- Wilderness Advanced First Aid (minimum 40 hours)
 - Schools must have someone with a minimum 40 hour first aid course in camp and with the hunting party. This requires that every school must have a minimum of two adults who each have a minimum 40 hour first aid course on the trip.
 - Copies of medical forms need to be at camp, including the parent volunteer's medical forms. These forms will be handled in accordance with the Privacy Commission and parent volunteer medical forms will be destroyed within one week after the trip.

Student medical forms will be destroyed at the end of the school year.

- Communication
 - Schools must ensure they have a satellite phone in camp and on the hunt
 - Make sure you have phone numbers with you including school and student contact numbers

- Smoke Alarms and propane detector must be in cook shack.

- Traditional Activities Protection Act Permit (TAPA) from Champagne Aishihik will be have to be signed by every principal before their school goes on a bison hunt
